COMING EVENTS

Local Brevities

A special session of the Board of Directors of the A. A. O. N. M. S. will be held at 7 o'clock tonight for the purpose of holding a ceremonial transmission.

The annual chautauk festival of the Brotherhood of American Veterans will be held at a meeting hall in the White Rock section, opposite the 12th street and Copper intersection this afternoon. Refreshments will be had in the hall and also face-to-face interviews and refreshments will be served. The chautauk will be general and informal in character.

Possible Larceny and Kidnapping—Several arrests have been made several months in connection with the White Rock section, objecting to the kidnapping of a photograph showing the proposed deal and price book. The photographs will be exhibited and given in evidence.

John Terrell was arrested by Special Agent Morris of the Santa Fe office yesterday this afternoon charged with kidnapping about a switch which was white denim.

Find Valdez and Tamayo de la Rosa saved the state the trouble of prosecuting them for larceny today in the district court. They pleaded guilty.

Because Judge Harry Rosenbaum demanded today at the commencement of the trial that was brought by one millionaire chairman of the Republic Bank of Indianapolis against its former anti-war organization to ~~testify~~ in the anti-war Republicans from among the party's name and enemies, the trial was adjourned to him by the referee Judge Johnson until the morning of November 28.

The Albuquerque Bar Court will meet tonight at 7 p. m. in the room of the Army.

Heavy Snowfall in Santa Fe Vicinity

During the night of Oct. 14 and the 15th about half the northern and central mountains, covered with snow, melted away, falling down as the Pecos River washed away three miles of snow. In preparing a drift road, a man fell into a crevasse and was buried. The body was recovered.

Yesterday afternoon Bandera State Park observed and heard both north and south of the city. Since then the snow has been falling in the city, but the temperatures still were much heavier amounts to as much as twenty inches in some areas the last few days. Increased snow continues in the city limits. Santa Fe now measures sixteen inches of snow on the ground. The temperature since April 20 dropped to 40°.

To the Voters of New Mexico

In his keynote speech, as temporary chairman of the recent Democratic State Convention in Santa Fe, Governor William C. McDonald said:

"Much has been said about the failure of the First State Bank at Las Cruces. Reckless statements have been made, regardless of the truth, charging that this was a political bank; that I was negligent after having known that the bank was insolvent."

"That this bank was ever used for the benefit of the Democratic party, I challenge anyone to prove, and I deny as absolutely false the statement that I ever knew at any time prior to the closing of the bank that it was in an insolvent condition. The records and reports are available for the proof of the truthfulness of this statement."

This flat denial of all knowledge of the condition of the First State Bank at Las Cruces was the first public statement Mr. McDonald had made concerning his official course in dealing with the wrecked bank. Reference was made by the Governor to records which he said would prove the truthfulness of his statement that he "did not know" that the bank was insolvent.

THUS FAR THE ONLY RECORDS PRODUCED BY MR. McDONALD OR ANYONE ELSE ARE THOSE OF THE LEGISLATIVE INVESTIGATION INTO THE AFFAIRS SURROUNDING THIS BANK FAILURE. IN THIS RECORD THE SWORN TESTIMONY OF MR. McDONALD'S OWN APPOINTEES IS TO THE EFFECT THAT FOR TEN MONTHS BEFORE THE BANK FAILED THE GOVERNOR KNEW IT TO BE AN INSOLVENT INSTITUTION. These records are available. They are public records, the property of the people of New Mexico, and are available to all.

In an address at Las Cruces, where the wrecked bank was permitted to do business, Governor McDonald on Monday, October 9th, qualified his flat denial, as quoted above from his convention speech. He admitted that he knew the bank was in trouble; that he visited Las Cruces with his appointee, the state bank examiner; that he had a conference with the board of directors; that he believed the directors to be men who could straighten out the bank's affairs. THIS WAS IN JANUARY, 1914, TEN MONTHS BEFORE THE BANK BROKE IN DECEMBER, 1914.

In defense of his record Governor McDonald sought to shift responsibility onto the attorney for the failed First State Bank of Alamogordo, who was pressing him (McDonald) for action in the case of the Las Cruces bank. Governor McDonald said this attorney should have asked for a receiver for the Las Cruces bank.

In addition to the services of the attorney general of the state, Governor McDonald at this period of his administration, had a personal legal advisor, at a salary of $2,000 a year, paid by the state, and he should have known, if he did not know, that under the law of New Mexico, in force at that time, the only method provided for obtaining a receiver for a bank was that SUIT BE BROUGHT BY THE ATTORNEY GENERAL AT THE REQUEST OF THE GOVERNOR OF THE STATE.

In his Las Cruces address last week Governor McDonald further stated that the report of J. W. McCarthy, a special deputy examiner, retained in the case, only showed a net loss of 75%, and that the charge that Mr. McDonald knew the bank's capital to be impaired 150% at the time he visited Las Cruces in 1914, is based upon the McCarty report.

The sworn public record shows that the reports proving the Capital of the bank to be impaired 150% were those made by Mr. Ernest, the state bank examiner, and by Mr. Wooster, his deputy.

In the testimony of Mr. Wooster the following evidence appears:

Question—Now then, after that report panic in a report was made by your office to the Governor showing that the stock at that time was impaired 150%, was it not?

Answer—Well, no, that was not the report.

Q.—It was a sort of statement in the Governor's words?

A.—That was a statement gotten up by looking over the result of both reports, McCarthy's and mine.

Q.—Then the conclusion you came to at that time was that it was impaired about 150%.

A.—YES, SIR.

Q.—Now that report was made to Mr. Ernest?

A.—I got it up for him, yes sir.

With further reference to Governor McDonald's knowledge of the condition of the bank in January, 1914, ten months before it broke, note this further quotation from the sworn testimony of Governor McDonald's appointee, Mr. Ernest, the bank examiner:

Q.—Governor McDonald knew all the conditions of that bank and of Smith that were known to you, did he not?

A.—He knew as much as I did.

Q.—You kept him informed at all times?

A.—Yes, we all the correspondence and everything was submitted to the Governor.

In his Las Cruces speech last week Governor McDonald used the following language:

"Was it not the plain and evident duty of the officers to repair the damage and get the bank in proper shape?"

The truth of this is apparent to all. The officers should have done just that. Attention is directed to the fact, proven by the sworn public record, that the OFFICERS DID NOT DO THEIR PLAIN AND EVIDENT DUTY and that because of that failure nearly 600 depositors and the State Agricultural College suffered severely. The evidence given under oath by Mr. Ernest, the bank examiner, on this point, is as follows:

Q.—I am asking you Mr. Ernest, if it is a fact THAT FOR TEN MONTHS AFTER YOU FOUND THAT CONDITION AND KNEW THE CHARACTER OF THE BANK, KNEW THE STATE FUNDS WERE THERE, YOU ABSOLUTELY DID NOT DO A THING TOWARDS SEEING THAT THE BANK WAS PUT IN BETTER CONDITION, DID YOU?

A.—NOTHING, NO.

Q.—From Jan. 30th on you did not do anything, did you?

A.—NO.

Governor McDonald, in his address at Las Cruces, referring to the continued depositing of State Agricultural College funds in the First State Bank, used the following language:

"Have you ever seen a scratch of evidence to show that I knew that they (the college funds) were there?"

It would be remarkable if the Governor of New Mexico paid so little attention to the funds of the college in his bank where they were deposited. Were that true in this case it would show the greatest negligence. The man public record is not true. Mr. Ernest, the State Agricultural College funds, were deposited in the First State Bank, and Mr. Ernest also swore that Governor McDonald knew as much about the matter as he (Ernest) did. In record cases, however, that Governor McDonald himself, referred to the Legislative Committee, a committee of inquiry which wrote Mr. Ernest, the State Agricultural College, asking him to keep the college funds in the First State Bank of Las Cruces. These letters are on file in the Governor's office, or were on file there at the time this public investigation was made, as Governor McDonald furnished the Legislative committee with the copies thereof.

During the past week Governor McDonald has been occupying platforms in various towns in Southern New Mexico, attacking the personal character and giving records of conduct of the Republican state ticket. His language has been bitter, violent and intemperate. He has not adhered to the facts in his references to the private lives and personal characters of the Republican opponents and he has departed from the records in his references to their official past and acts.

The Republican candidates have called on Governor McDonald in this campaign. They will not do so. Their campaign is being made strictly upon the public records. The records of Governor McDonald's administration are not to be shielded, nor can searching attention be diverted from them by general denials, evasion of fact and torrents of abuse.

One of the main issues before you in this campaign, VOTERS OF NEW MEXICO, is whether or not you want another term of the McDonald administration. While technically only a candidate for Governor, Mr. McDonald is recognized and stands as the sponsor for Mr. De Baca, the Democratic candidate for Governor.

"If E. C. de Baca is elected Governor of New Mexico, he will make the same kind of a governor I have made."

It is a question to be answered by you whether or not you wish to continue in office the kind of Governor whose public utterances concerning his own official acts and conduct and performance of duty vary so sharply from the sworn, undenied, undeniable public records.
